

Jeremi Suri, Mack Brown Distinguished Chair for Leadership in Global Affairs and Professor of History at the University of Texas, speaks at the Mershon Center on March 8, 2013.

More than 70 people attended Professor Jeremi Suri's talk on "Why the Korean War was the Most Important and Enduring Cold War Conflict: Contemporary Lessons."

Professor Jeremi Suri's talk examined the legacy of the Korean War on the post-1945 international system.